GOV. HARMON REFUTES THE HARDING CHARGES

Proof Established That Governor Had Nothing Whatever to Do With Making of Tax Returns

WAS UNDER ORDERS OF UNITED STATE JUDGES

Harding's Speech Was Prepared by Cincinnati Shark Attorney Who Defends Election Law Violators--Great Crowds Cheer Ohio's Chief Executive as He Drives Home Facts.

Middletown, Oct. 29.—Complete and convincing answer was made last night to Warren G. Harding by Governor Judson Harmon upon the charges made that he was, while receiver of the C. H. & D. railroad, an evader of taxes and a giver of rebates.

Proof was furnished that he had nothing whatever to do with the making of tax returns, and that the alleged rebates were mere settlements of claims made upon the order of Judge Horace Lutton, of the United States court.

It was shown also that he had not agreed to resign as receiver in the event of his election as governor, but that he had done so voluntarily when chosen by the people. It was further shown that he tendered his resignation in open court, and that Judge Lutton repeatedly refused to accept it. Every charge uttered by the Republican nominee was fairly met and squarely answered, his opponent being referred to the records of the courts and other institutions involved for substantiation of the statements made. It is known, however, that Harding will follow up his charges with others.

Having done that, Governor Harmon proceeded to a scathing arraignment of Mr. Harding, whom he charged with having delivered a speech prepared for him by an agent of the man to whom he paid deference and devotion, George B. Cox. He had fathered it without investigation of the malicious matter which it contained.

The governor charged that the material was delivered to Harding in the railway depot at Dayton at midnight by this agent, William Thorndyke, of Cincinnati, a lawyer, known for his defense of the offenders against the election laws in Cincinnati and his connection with taxation litigation. The transfer of the alleged speech was made only last Wednesday night.

In an impassioned way the governor declared that the mud batteries of Mr. Harding should be really turned upon Judge Lutton, who has since that time been elevated to the supreme court of the United States by President William H. Taft, for it was through his direction that practically all of the matters complained of came to pass.

"I have met with the usual fate of those who are called upon to attack wrongdoing in high places," cried the governor, as he held aloft the papers containing his evidence. "It is always thus when the wrongdoers are found entrenched behind the walls of privilege or fortified by political power. They hope by driving their assailant from power to stay the hand of the avenger; therefore, this mendacious and malicious assault upon me."

Through an interesting coincidence the governor's refutation of the charges was delivered in the former home of Captain R. P. Rifenberck, the real estate and tax agent of the C. H. & D. railroad, who made the returns for which Harding held Harmon responsible. During the day Captain Rifenberck, at Cincinnati, issued a state, controverting the Harding charges, and last night the governor mentioned that fact to his audience. During his residence here Captain Rifenberck occupied a high position in business and social circles and two years ago he was the choice of the district for the Republican nomination for state treasurer.

He had also been appointed as a trustee of the Cincinnati water works by Governor Andrew L. Harris, an old friend and fellow soldier.

The audience the governor faced in the Sora opera house was a great one, and it was thoroughly sympathetic, repeatedly cheering the governor as he disclosed the animus behind the attack. To his applauding auditors he explained that he had offended morally the state house ring and the city bosses through exposing their looting of the state treasury and they are now trying to impeach his integrity, not as a chief executive but as a private citizen.

In support of his explanation, he recited the often-told history of the connection of the Cincinnati Trust governor launched into his explanation of the charges as told yesterday. Harding said he was a victim of a question and given out as his own statement. He said that the parts of the story were false but that he was a victim of a question and given out as his own statement. He said that the parts of the story were false but that he was a victim of a question and given out as his own statement.

FRIENDS OF FORAKER ARE ANGERED AT HIS RECALL

Sandusky, Ohio, October 29.—Local Republicans, especially the friends of former Senator Foraker, are busy endeavoring to fix the responsibility for the calling off of the Foraker meeting. Chairman Craig, of the county central committee, says it is not up to him, as he used every endeavor to get Mr. Foraker to recede from the stand he had taken not to speak in Sandusky.

Angered to the fighting pitch by the action of the Republican leaders who were responsible for the calling off of the meeting, friends and loyal supporters of the former Senator freely declared during the day that this ended all hope for Warren G. Harding and the Republican ticket. There is high authority for the statement that Foraker was retired from the campaign in order to head off a wholesale threatened bolt on the part of so-called progressive Republicans.

Bird Men of All Nations After $5,000 Prize and Gordon Bennett Cup

NUMBER OF ACCIDENTS

Wreck Machines But Operators Escape Unhurt--Wind Has Interfered.

Belmont Aviation Field, L. I., Oct. 29.—Grahame-White was the first starter in the international race for a $5000 prize and the Gordon Bennett cup today. He finished the first lap in 3 min. 15 sec., at an estimated speed of 58 miles an hour.

The first five laps 15.55 hundredth miles he negotiated in 15 min. 46 sec. The skies are clear and the wind is blowing 12 miles an hour. The conditions are called splendid.

Walter Brookins in the baby Wright flyer is a keen favorite. Under the conditions, the man who covers the 20 laps, 62.14 miles in the shortest time before 5:30 p. m. wins the race.

Le Blanc Radley, Latham and Hamilton are all expected to be hot contenders for first honors. Le Blanc started second at 9 o'clock. His first lap was covered in 2 min. 45 sec., considerably faster than 70 miles an hour.

He broke the world's speed record in his first three laps, completing 9.33 miles in 8 min. 17 sec. He is taking daring chances at the turns and has the crowd on its feet, gasping with amazement.

Grahame-White finished the distance in 61 min. 4 sec., making an average speed 60 and one-half miles per hour. While on his 19th lap Le Blanc ran out of gasoline and losing control of his machine, crashed into a telegraph pole, breaking it off and wrecking his machine. He escaped with a bad cut on the face.

Ogilvie, the Englishman, was the third starter, but descended on his 13th lap. He reascended about 11 o'clock to finish the race.

Walter Brookins started a test flight in the little Wright and fell 30 feet, wrecking the machine, but escaping with slight injuries. It was announced that Brookins' engine would be transferred to another baby Wright in time for him to start.

Three minutes after Brookins' accident, LeBlanc appeared on the track, smoking a cigarette. He received a tremendous ovation. Official announcement of LeBlanc's time was 66 3-5 miles per hour.

Hubert Latham in his two-horsepower Antoinette started at 10:55.

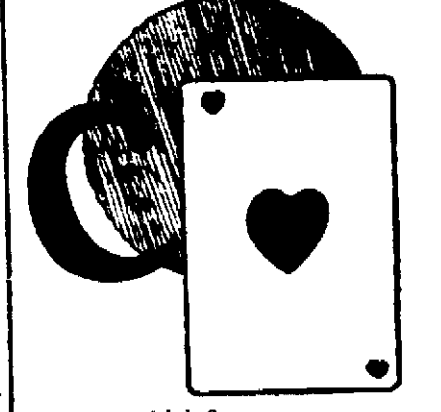

Later in the day the Wrights announced their withdrawal from the Gordon Bennett race. Moissant will probably take their place. Latham gave a wonderful exhibition of nerve when the wind caught his airplane and slammed it towards a group of people. Latham was turned every which way, but by a herculean effort he righted his machine and skimmed safely one foot above the heads of the people.

He then cleared the judge's stand by inches and finally descended safely, completely unhurt. He had covered 15 laps in 50 min. 30 sec.

The crowd hailed him as a hero and cheered him madly. He says it was a miracle that he did not hurt any one. His accident puts France out of the race and the French team at once began giving Hamilton pointers in the hope that he would bear Grahame-White's mark and retain the cup here.

Shortly after Latham's mishap the wind became too strong for any of the flyers to take the air.

Banana Fritters—In a bowl put one cupful of flour and one-half of a teaspoonful of salt, and mix well. Beat the yolks of two eggs until light, add sufficient cold water to make a thin drop batter. Beat, add one tablespoonful of melted butter or olive oil and the whites of the eggs, whipped to a stiff froth. Mix well and stand aside for several hours in a cold place. Strip the skin from each banana, cut it in half and each half lengthwise into half again. Dip each piece into the batter until thoroughly coated and drop into smoking hot fat. When golden brown drain for a moment on unglazed paper, dust with powdered sugar and serve.

Curried Giblet Salad—When cleaning the chickens for the Sunday dinner wash hearts and livers well. Peel back the tough iridescent membrane from the outside of each gizzard, cut off the piece of meat underneath and discard the rest. Put these pieces with the hearts and livers, a slice of onion, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt and a chopped stalk of celery into a pint of water and simmer until tender. Take out the meat, add a half teaspoonful of curry powder, and simmer until the broth is reduced to one cupful. Soak one heaping teaspoonful of granulated gelatin in two tablespoonfuls of cold water, add to the hot liquid, stir until dissolved and set aside. Cut the giblets into tiny dice. Strain over them the broth, and turn into a shallow dish. For Sunday night cut this jelly into squares, arrange on lettuce leaves and serve with mayonnaise.

NEWARK MAN IS RE-ARRESTED AT THE PEN DOORS

When James Walter Steepleton stepped from the door of the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus at 6:30 o'clock Friday morning after having served a two-year term for criminal assault, he was met by Sheriff George C. Smithley and re-arrested and taken back to Zanesville to face indictments for bigamy and perjury, growing out of his marriage here on June 10th, 1908, to Miss Mina Elben of Utica, Ohio.

Steepleton was indicted by the Muskingum county grand jury in April, 1909. He was at that time serving the sentence for criminal assault from Licking county which terminated Friday morning. The Elben girl's father from Utica lodged the information against Steepleton for the local grand jury. The penitentiary authorities were notified that he was wanted at the expiration of his sentence.

According to information in the hands of the prosecuting attorney Steepleton secured a marriage license in the Muskingum probate court to marry Miss Elben who was then but 15 years old. He made oath on that occasion that the girl was a resident of Muskingum county and that the girl was eighteen years of age. For this reason he was indicted for perjury.

The record of the marriage license office at Sistersville, W. Va., shows that he was married on August 31, 1901, to Bertha May Lightner by Rev. H. B. Bowden. At the time of the grand jury investigation here this woman was living at Empire, O., and was brought here and testified against her husband and Miss Elben, or Mrs. Steepleton No. 2, was also a witness on the occasion.

It seems that Steepleton was living in Newark at the time of the second marriage and that he attempted to secure the marriage license here but was refused. He then went to Zanesville, and secured the necessary paper. Steepleton pleaded guilty to the charge of criminal assault in the Licking county court and was sentenced to two years in the pen.

Conviction for perjury carries a penalty of from three to ten years in the penitentiary. Bigamy is punishable by imprisonment of from one to seven years.

BEGY'S MUSTARDINE

Acts Quicker and is More Efficient Than a Mustard Plaster.

When T. J. Evans secured the agency for Begy's Mustardine he did a good turn for hundreds of people in Newark and vicinity who suffer from neuralgia, headache, earache, toothache or pain in chest or back.

A 25 cent box of Begy's Mustardine will cure more aches and pains than forty dirty, old fashioned mustard plasters.

Rub it on—that's all—it's clean—won't soil and is absorbed so quickly by the pores that pain and agony promptly vanish.

Used for cold in head or chest and rheumatism and swollen joints, it gives surprising results.

A yellow box full for 25 cents and money back if it isn't satisfactory. No—it won't blister, and it's better than any liniment. Ask for Begy's Mustardine.

INDIGESTION AND STOMACH TROUBLES ENDS

If you had some Diapiesin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This barulic preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, cut-or-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness, or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.

BUYING A PLACE

The Price Went Very High, Then Dropped

By LUCY K. WYNKOOP

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

A young man pulling a boat on a New England lake rested on his oars before a plank landing, on which stood a young woman evidently waiting for something.

"Beg pardon," he said to her, "is there a road behind those houses up there leading down to the railroad station at Parkville?"

"Yes, there is," was the reply.

The young man gaped about him as though interested in the lay of the land. He was really interested in the girl, who was quite comely. He was trying to think of some other question to ask her in order to keep up a conversation.

"Can you tell me who occupies that white house up on that crest?" he asked.

"Dr. Egerton."

There was another pause. The replies were so exactly to the point that they did not invite any further questioning. However, the young man was not to be dropped.

"I'm looking for a place like that on this lake," he said, "I wonder if it could be bought?"

"I suppose there's hardly a piece of property in the world that cannot be bought if the purchaser is willing to give a large enough price."

"I've looked over all these New England lakes with a view to buying a summer residence, and I like this bit of water better than any of them. My mother and sister won't go to hotels, and I don't like them myself. We wish a place where we can go as soon as spring opens and stay till late in the autumn."

The young lady evinced no interest in the young man's family plans and made no reply.

"That place up there would suit us exactly," he continued. "I would like to spend all the rest of my summers there. The view must be fine."

"There would be no harm in your trying to buy it," said the girl. "You might write a note to the owner asking if any sum you would be prepared to pay would be accepted."

"Thank you very much for the suggestion."

At that moment there were sounds of motorboat engine explosions, and a launch was seen making for the landing. It soon pulled up there under care of a single boatman. The young lady got aboard and, without so much as a look at the oarsman, was carried away.

"Mighty fine looking girl," he said to himself—"well but plainly dressed and with an air of 'being somebody.' I wonder who she is."

Jack Aborn was an enormously wealthy young man, having inherited the bulk of his father's property, and was accustomed to having anything money could buy that he desired. There was something unique in the Egerton place that struck his fancy. He couldn't very well build such a place. To begin with, he couldn't get the site; then it would require half a century to grow the trees. Besides, there was an old fashioned look about the whole place that could not be imitated. As the young lady had said, there would be no harm in trying to buy it, and he resolved to drop the owner a note asking if he would consider an offer.

He did so and received a reply written in a woman's hand as follows:

Dr. Egerton desires me to acknowledge the receipt of your note asking if an offer for this place will be considered and to say that it has been in the Egerton family so many years that there is at present no intention on the part of the owner to sell it. However, the doctor would like to know what it would bring. Yours truly, SARAH H. MCCARTHY, Secretary.

Aborn was sufficiently versed in business methods to waste no further time in correspondence; he called upon Dr. Egerton for a conference. He was received by Miss McCarthy, a middle aged lady, who told him that the doctor had gone to the city, but that she (the secretary) had charge of such business matters as required attention in the doctor's absence and had power to act. Aborn asked what the property would bring if offered openly for sale, and Miss McCarthy said she thought it would easily sell for $30,000. Whereupon Aborn made an offer of $40,000 for it. The secretary said that she would transmit the offer to her principal and would write him.

In due time a note came to Aborn stating briefly that his offer would not be accepted. He was quite ready to raise it, but did not like dealing through a third party. He called again on the doctor, but was again disappointed at not seeing him. The doctor was at home, but very busy. Aborn left word with the secretary that he would raise his bid to $50,000.

A reply to this came to him that astonished him. It was this:

Dr. Egerton desires me to inform Mr. Aborn that inquires having been made as to his financial standing and his ability to pay for any purchase he might make, the responses are perfectly satisfactory. But the doctor has also been informed that Mr. Aborn is one of those young men who, having inherited large means, think they can acquire anything they fancy. Surely there is no property without a price, but the price on the Egerton place is in proportion to Mr.

Aborn's enormous fortune. It is enormously high. Yours truly,

SARAH H. MCCARTHY.

Aborn was not only astonished at this reply; he was mad. At first he determined to drop the matter in contemptuous silence, but he was too irritated to do this. Besides, he was curious to discover what sort of man this doctor was who would go so far out of his way to insult a man whose only fault was a desire to possess the Egerton homestead. He determined to make one more effort to see him. He called, but again was obliged to be content with seeing the secretary, the doctor having again gone to the city on important business.

"Is this doctor," he asked in an irritated tone, "a regularly educated physician or a quack?"

"Dr. Egerton is something higher than even a regularly educated physician. The doctor's title is doctor of philosophy."

"What, then, does he do for a living?"

"The doctor is a sociologist."

"Oh, I see; has something to do with the running of the town charities?"

"City charities principally."

"I know a man who has such a position, but he doesn't get much of a salary."

To this there was no response.

"Well," continued Aborn, "I wish you would tell this sociologist that he'd better cut out his degree till he has learned to treat his fellow men with proper civility. I had a perfect right to inquire whether he would sell his place and was led to believe that an offer would be acceptable even if not accepted. Then I receive an—"

"You have not yet offered enough. The doctor holds the property far above its intrinsic worth on account of its having been so long in the family."

Aborn, being angry, thought how nice it would be to offer a price this insulting sociologist could not afford to decline.

"Very well," he said, "tell him I'll give him $100,000 for it. When will he be at home?"

"Tomorrow."

"I'll call for the reply."

Aborn looked over the premises as he went away and determined to give double the price offered if necessary, by adjoining tracts and make the place a paradise. Though he did not know it, all this fever to possess the place was born of his desire to have his own way in everything and to take revenge for having been told the truth.

The next morning Aborn was rowing on the lake when he met the girl he had seen on the landing. She was in a canoe.

"Beg pardon," he said, "but—"

The girl stopped paddling and waited.

"Perhaps you will remember suggesting that I write the owner of the white house up there asking if he would like to sell the place?"

"Well?"

"What kind of a man is he anyway?"

"Dr. Egerton is a very level headed person. Anything the doctor tells you has weight to it."

"H'm! He's no gentleman."

"The doctor's very plain spoken."

"I should think he is."

"I hope my suggestion hasn't led to anything disagreeable."

"Oh, the suggestion was very sensible as well as very kind."

"Is the place for sale?"

"I suppose it is. But for a man who gets probably $75 a month for running the poor he's mighty independent."

The girl made no reply to this. Indeed, she indicated that the dialogue didn't interest her by putting her paddle in the water. Aborn dipped his oars, and they pulled apart.

During the afternoon Aborn called at Dr. Egerton's to learn if $100,000 would buy a place worth not over a third of that amount. He had given up any expectation of seeing the doctor. Indeed, he rather thought it better he should not. He feared he would be tempted to punch the man's head. He was standing in the drawing room looking out through a window on the lake when, hearing a rustle of woman's clothing behind him, he turned, expecting to see the secretary. What was his amazement to see the girl he had met first on the landing and the same morning in a canoe. Her eyes were bubbling with mischief.

"W-w-hat does this mean?" he stammered.

"You called to see Dr. Egerton, did you not?"

"Yes."

"I am Dr. Egerton."

"You?"

"Yes. I am Cornelia Egerton, Ph. D."

"I see."

It was scarcely necessary for him to add anything to these two simple words, for it was evident that his eyes had been opened.

"Very stupid of me, wasn't it?"

"Be seated. I owe you an apology. The temptation was too strong for me."

"How about that information you got about me?"

"Made out of whole cloth."

"Your secretary?"

"My aunt."

"She said something about your running a city charity bureau."

"Heaven has blessed me with great wealth. I consider myself simply as its dispenser. In order to dispense it intelligently I studied sociology."

"Heaven has also given me great wealth, but it hasn't occurred to me to give it away till after my death, when I shall have no use for it."

"Better adopt my plan."

"Do you really own this house?"

"Yes, but I own another I like better. You may have this one for what I consider it worth—$20,000."

"Done!"

A year later the doctor went with the house.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How the Elf Was Fooled

JUMPED RIGHT INTO THE BOTTLE

"In the olden times in a certain town in England," said daddy one evening in beginning his bedtime story for Jack and Evelyn, "there lived an elf who was very mischievous. Indeed, some of the tricks which he played on the people were worse than mischievous, for they did considerably harm."

"So one day they held a meeting to consider what should be done about it. The elf lived in an old deserted house at the very end of the town."

"Well, at the meeting several plans for trapping the elf were spoken of, but none seemed to the people to be a good one. Finally some one said:

"Let's ask Daft Tom to catch the elf. He'll do it if any one can." Daft Tom was a queer old man who lived in the town and who was believed to be able to talk with fairies and elves and such creatures. So they sent for Daft Tom and offered him ten gold pieces if he would rid the town of the elf. "I'll try," said Tom, "but you must give me a big candle and an empty bottle with a cork for it."

"When he got the candle and the bottle and cork Daft Tom went at night to the elf's house, sat down at the table of the biggest room, lit his candle and waited."

"Just exactly at 12 o'clock he looked up, and there, sitting in front of him, was the elf. 'Hello,' said the mischievous creature. 'How did you get in?'"

"Through the chimney," said Daft Tom. "And how did you get in yourself?"

"I don't think that is your business," said the elf, "especially as this is my house and you have no right here."

"Well," said Tom, "it's easy enough for any one to get in through the doorway."

"But I didn't get in through the doorway," said the elf. "I came in through the keyhole."

"I don't believe it," said Tom, "for if you got in through the keyhole you could get into this bottle here." And he pointed at the bottle, from which he had drawn the cork before the elf appeared.

"Humph!" replied the elf. "That's easy. Just watch me." And with that he sprang up and jumped right into the bottle. "There! I told you so," he said, but before he could jump out again Tom pushed the cork tight into the neck of the bottle, and the elf was caught. Then he took the bottle with the bad elf in it and threw it into the river."

Children Cause Fire. Children playing around a stove in the Innhoff grocery, South Second St., caused a slight fire there at 10 o'clock this morning. The Central fire department was called and the fire was easily controlled. The trucks had some difficulty in crossing the railroad tracks, as a Panhandle passenger train took up practically all of the crossing. Another fire station is badly needed in the South End.

Several others are badly needed in the business section and many in the residence district are in deplorable condition. It is not too late to do cement work. Call up a contractor now and have the needed walks put down.

Council Committee on Subway. An Advocate representative in discussing the big banner meeting of the South Side with Councilman John A. Prior Saturday, was informed by that gentleman that a meeting of the subway committee of the city council would be called for some time next week. # Quarter Century Ago

(From Advocate Sept. 29, 1885.) The bell of the First Presbyterian church will not be rung next Sunday, on account of the severe illness of Dr. S. D. Hissler, of North Third St. Services, however, will be held as the usual hours.

Miss Clara Sinner, of Granville, daughter of Hon. Edwin Sinner, senator-elect from this district, has gone to Boston to continue her musical studies.

The sanitary condition of Newark was never better than at present and we need have no fears of an invasion by any extent of diphtheria or small-pox.

The Home Building Association Co. will take $5000 at their meeting at 7:30 Monday night in the convention room of the court house.

Fifty Years Ago Today.

Oct. 29.

General George B. McClellan ("Little Mac"), who succeeded Lieutenant Winfield Scott as general in chief, U. S. A., in 1861 and subsequently led the Army of the Potomac in its campaigns against Robert E. Lee, died at Orange, N. J. General McClellan had been candidate for president against Lincoln in 1864 and later governor of New Jersey.

A BIT OF ADVICE.

First—Don't Delay. Second—Don't Experiment.

If you suffer from backache; headache or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. The kidneys are calling for help. Slight symptoms of kidney trouble are but forerunners of more serious complaints. They should be given attention before it is too late.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure kidney trouble—they are recommended by thousands. Can residents desire more convincing proof that the statement of a citizen of this locality, who says that the cure Doan's Kidney Pills effected years ago has proven permanent?

G. W. Harter, Hebron, O., says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for years and received no benefit from physicians' prescriptions and various other remedies. I was finally led to try Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. At that time I publicly endorsed them, and I now gladly do so again."

LITTLE BALD SPOT

Men Be Sensible. Don't Let It Grow More Conspicuous.

If you are beginning to worry about that spot right on the top of your head, where the hair is thin or has disappeared entirely, Don't worry any longer.

Go to Evans' Drug Store at once and get a 50-cent bottle of Parisian Sage.

If that won't check the falling hair and cause new hair to grow, nothing on this earth will. Dandruff causes hair to fall and baldness; dandruff germs cause dandruff.

Parisian Sage kills the germs; eradicates dandruff; stops falling hair and itching scalp, or money back, at Evans' Drug Store.

It will cause the hair to grow, if the hair can't be dead.

It causes the hair to grow thicker, more luxuriant and puts so much new life into it that it grows lustrous and beautiful.

When FORD Speaks The World Listens

Here's an announcement that will be welcomed by all people, who contemplate buying an automobile

"Buy a Ford car because it is a better car not because it is cheaper"---Henry Ford

Model T. Touring Car $780 Model T Roadster $680

The same car without the following equipment:--Extension top, automatic brass windshield, 2 6-in. gas lamp, generator and speedometer $700.00

The same car without the following equipment:--Extension top, automatic brass windshield, 2 6-inch lamps, generator and speedometer $600.00

The "reason why" can be given in a few words. We are in the position to do business on a small profit.

We are going to make the FORD Model T indefinitely. All the necessary experiments have been made and paid for.

There is no philanthropy in this; we believe it to be good business judgement.

We have built and fully equipped the most complete automobile manufacturing plant in the world. All has been paid for from the profits earned on the business in previous years.

When Henry Ford built his automobile, he realized its importance as factor in the progressive business life of America and he determined to build a motor that would have the largest demand from ALL the people. He knew that such a car must be light in weight, reliable in construction, inexpensive to maintain and low in price.

We have no bond issues to pay off. There are no mortgages upon our property. We have no indebtedness. We do business on the "spot cash" discount basis, purchasing in large quantities, commanding the lowest prices in the market materials. Therefore we can well afford to sell the FORD Model T at the above low prices.

From that memorable day in 1903 when the FORD MOTOR COMPANY was organized, there has been no halt in the march of achievement. Ford has been "doing things" every day—working to one purpose: A car for the people with a price the people can pay.

To fully achieve this purpose FORD cars must be made in such large quantities that a small margin over the cost would produce a satisfactory profit. Continuous quantity demand could only be assured through quality.

To establish quality, there must be specialization and organization to accompany inventive and mechanical genius.

Our factory is built for quality production. (285 complete FORD cars have been turned out in one day.) We can make 30,000 cars cheaper than we can make ten thousand. Where labor costs us one dollar, our overhead expenses cost a dollar and a half. Our factory is built to profit from quantity production. Thus, by reducing overhead cost per car we will build 30,000 cars for 1911 at less ratio of overhead cost per car than it did to make 20,000 cars in 1910—through materials and labor commands the same prices.

From the beginning all FORD efforts have been concentrated upon one model. Concentration is a fixed principle with Mr. Ford in order that perfection of product may be had. And so, throughout the entire vast plant, in every department, every man and every machine is busy on the production of this one model.

Our normal working force is 4000 men, building 30,000 cars. Contrast this with factories employing from 7,000 to 12,000 men and making only 10,000 cars. Wages are a part of the cost of any car. Here's where FORD factory equipment and manufacturing organization reduces cost of production, while accentuating excellence in the quality of FORD cars. We can therefore afford to sell on a small margin profit.

The ideal FORD Model T. was attained in 1908. Since that time there has been little change in its design, but a continuous refinement in mechanical construction, each year bringing the Model T nearer the perfect automobile.

These are some of the reasons for the prices quoted above.

For Business Use

There are a great many places and occasions when the possibility of getting extra heat immediately effects an economy by decreasing the discomfort of the worker. In the office, in the early morning or late at night, before or after the steamheat is on, it is of importance to have extra heat. In the builder's outside office, in the shipping room, in the checker's shack, on exposed lofts, in railroad stations, in studios, the is often a necessity. It is safe, smokeless and odorless. Apply a match, and it gives heat quickly. With four quarts of oil it burns nine hours. Has automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be cleaned in an instant.

It has a cool handle and a damper top. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap it is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking.

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in japan or nickel. It is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

ELLEN TERRY SAYS
WOMAN'S TRIUMPH
IS INEVITABLE
New York, Oct. 29.—The greatest need of women is education and self-betterment, said Ellen Terry, the famous English actress today. "Of course women should have the right to vote, but I cannot feel personally that I would have been any better if I had voted. I have always had more rights than I know what to do with. I have now, but what am I to do with the rights of other women? Anything which will help them should be their aim. Men of intelligence in England, men of heart know that the triumph of the woman is inevitable. Perhaps they fear that it will go too far."
"Sometimes I tell my daughter, Miss Jenny, who is prominently identified with the British suffrage movement, that I do not really see the usefulness of knocking off a policeman's hat. But she says our ancestors had to break windows to obtain their liberty."
"Shakespeare's women would probably all be suffragettes if they lived today. Perhaps they were then, dear, Rosalind and Portia especially."

THE LODGES

Modern Woodmen.

Cedar Camp, No. 4727, M. W. of A., met in regular session on Monday night. After the urn was investigated, 147 pebbles were found. The members have waked up and the applications are coming in, there being 21 applications for membership Monday night and one by transfer card. The escort found in waiting Wm. De France, Clyde H. Williams, Charles McGough, Milton Huff, John E. Matzenbach and G. W. Robinson, who were adopted as members of Cedar Camp. Several good, rousing talks were made by the members present, which showed that the members are enthused and have determined to hustle and win the state banner. Fifteen certificates have been put in force already this month. There are 11 certificates at the clerk's office, waiting for the applicants to be adopted. A class will be adopted on Nov. 7. Both the beneficial and fraternal degrees were conferred on the candidates at the last meeting and there was lots of fun. After the work was over, all retired to the banquet room and partook of the refreshments the committee had prepared, consisting of wienies, sandwiches, cheese, pickles and coffee. The official paper gives the information that there is an assessment for the month of November.

Haymakers.

Minnewa Haymakers' Association No. 52 1-2 met in regular session on Wednesday evening, Oct. 26, with one of the best meetings that have been held for a long time. Promptly at 7:15 the members assembled at the Hayloft and formed in line, headed by the Rube Band, the members and tramps marched around the public square and through the principal streets, followed by a mowing machine, hay rake and hay wagon filled with kids. After the parade was over all assembled in the Hayloft and were called to order by Chief Haymaker W. A. Tanner. Eleven applications for membership were balloted upon, and elected to learn the grand secrets of making hay. The Boss Daw, Jesse J. Hoskinson, Wm. P. Hoskinson, Henry R. Couch, Harley C. Rugg and A. ## A MISSISSIPPI ENTHUSIAST

Mrs. Lena Gresham, of Clinton, Miss., Has a Few Facts to Tell Our Readers About Cardui.

Clinton, Miss.—"Thanks to Cardui," writes Mrs. Lena Gresham, of this place, "I have been greatly relieved."

"I suffered for three years from female inflammation, and had taken medicine from four different physicians without much benefit."

"I have received more benefit from seven bottles of Cardui, than from all the physicians."

Just try Cardui. That's all we ask. It speaks for itself. It has helped so many thousands, it must be able to help you.

Trying Cardui won't hurt you. It is safe, harmless, gentle in action, and purely vegetable.

If you are weak, tired, down and out, try Cardui.

If you are sick, miserable, and suffer from womanly pains, like headache, backache, dragging feelings, pains in side, arms, legs, etc.—try Cardui.

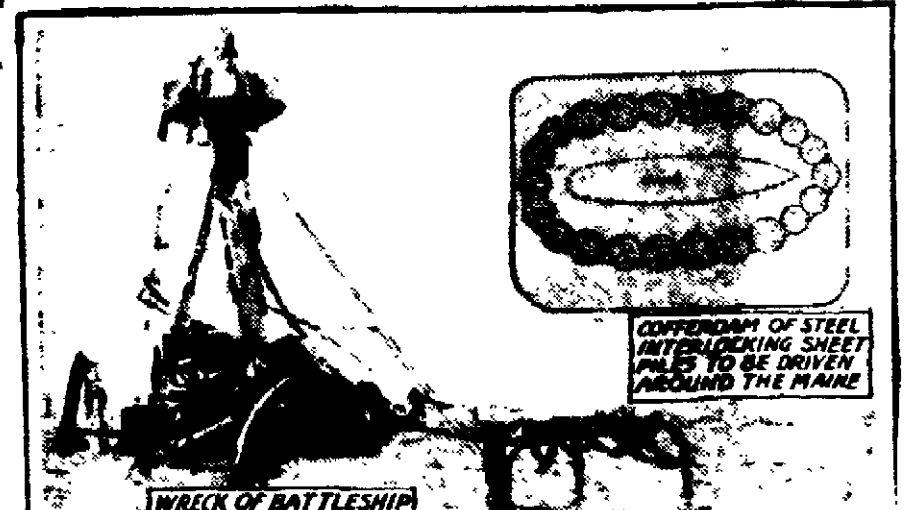

It is the medicine for all women.

It is the tonic for you.

ENGINEERS AT ODDS OVER PLAN FOR RAISING MAINE

New York, Oct. 29.—Details of the plan formulated by the army engineers for the work of raising the wreck of the battleship Maine are likely to precipitate as great a discussion as was brought about by the war over the relative merits of the sea level versus the lock type of canal for the Panama isthmus. It was made known several days ago that the old, slow and expensive method of a cofferdam was to be employed by the army engineers, and, while considerable criticism of the plan was made at the time, the engineers, as a rule, initiated suggestions in "reversing judgment" until the plan, with all of its details, was at hand.

MILITIA FOR THE ELECTIONS

Havana, Oct. 29.—One battalion of infantry and two companies of artillery were dispatched today by special train to the Pinar Del Rio province to assist in preserving order in the coming election. The political situation in this province has been made acute by the sufferings of the thousands of victims of the recent storms that ravaged the province. These victims are demanding relief of the government and threaten a disturbance at the polls.

A court martial will begin at Camp Columbia tomorrow of a lieutenant and ten soldiers of the Cuban army.

who are charged with conspiracy in connection with the trouble in the army last August. The court martial is generally viewed as ridiculous which robs the proceedings of any significance.

A NOTRE DAME LADY'S APPEAL

To all known sufferers of rheumatism, whether muscular or of the joints, sciatica, lumbago, backache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia pains, to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these tortures. She feels it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE! You cure yourself at home, as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood, loosens the stiffened joints, purifies the blood and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. If it interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Summers, Box R, Notre Dame, Ind.

Just By the Way

By TED ROBINSON

The Philosopher of Folly.
"WHEN an old maid intimates that she might have been married, we suspect that she's prevaricating. But when a widow says she never had a chance to marry again, we know she is."

Cold Water.

Penny—I can't understand how such a sweet girl as Betty could fall in love with such a dud as I am!
Betty—Because she didn't happen to go any other dud around at the time, my boy. Cheer up!

A Letter.

I plucked a little flower, today—
The latest blossom of the fall—
And I let it drift away.
It will be withered, sweet and all,
Tomorrow—yet it must remain hidden,
Till you come home again!

O-Smith has lent me from his shelf
The rarest, most delicious book.
A little, surreptitious book
Between its covers—let me lack
One mutual joy, when you come back!

I wrote a song I liked last night,
But did not print it, as I should:
I'm loath to have it see the light.
Till you pronounce it led or good.
Ah, love! Song, flowers, life are dumb,
And cannot speak until you come!

Almost An Epigram.

"A man is judged by the company he keeps."
"A woman by the company that avoids her."

Help!
We send out a personal appeal to "Esperantists." Will he please send us his name and address (we won't print them) so that we can send him the stamps we owe him, and some extra ones for an Esperanto grammar and dictionary? Before we can translate his poem properly, we must learn more of the language. It's easy to read the letter—and we are willing converted. Help, Esperantists! This ceases to be funny.

The Real Truth.
"What is more aggravating than a woman?"
"No woman."

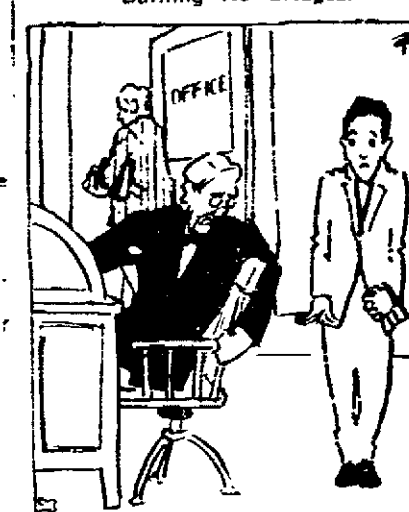

Homily.
"Why did you fail?" asked the Seeker.
"I never had half a chance," whined the Failure.
"And how did you succeed?" inquired the Seeker of the Success.
"I don't know—I didn't have any chance at all when I started."

The man who doesn't have half a chance wouldn't know a whole one if he saw it. The man who has no chance at all can make one if he wants it. And did you ever notice what they always say about the most abject failure? "He had all the chance in the world!"

The Skeptic.

"Women can stand a lot of suffering, can't they?"
"Yes—if they aren't requested to keep still about it."

Burning No Bridges.

These book agents are careless fellows.
"Three of 'em have called on me today, and not one remembered to shut the door after him when he spied the office."

"Call that carelessness? Why, man, that's precaution!"

OBITUARY

MRS. REBECCA A. RUTLEDGE.

A splendid woman was taken from home and family and friends Saturday morning when Mrs. Rebecca A. Rutledge, widow of the late Col. W. D. Rutledge, formerly one of the best known and most prominent residents of Franklin township, passed away at the home of her son, J. W. Rutledge, 149 North Fifth street, at 8:55 o'clock Saturday morning. Mrs. Rutledge had been in poor health for the past seven years, during all of which time she had been confined to her room, due to the gradual wearing away of the system.

Mrs. Rutledge's maiden name was Rebecca Sigler and she was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Sigler, having been born on March 20, 1833, on what is known as Big Clay Lick, in Franklin township. Here she grew to womanhood and on Dec. 1, 1853, was married to William D. Rutledge, who preceded her to the grave on the 4th of May, 1909.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge lived in Franklin township for many years and here it was that they reared their children, four of whom are living, being James W., Thomas B., Dr. E. Rutledge of Johnstown and Miss Margaret, who lives at home. Besides the children, the deceased is survived by two brothers and three sisters, being B. N. Sigler of Hudson avenue, J. W. Sigler of Mt. Vernon, Mrs. Annie Dunham of Delaware, and Miss Rhoda Sigler of Denver, Col.

The deceased had for many years been a member of Mt. Carmel church. The funeral services will be held at that church on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The funeral cortege will leave the house at 12 m., and the services will be conducted at the church by the Rev. J. W. Yantis. The surviving members of the family have the sympathy of all their friends in their great sorrow.

OSCAR E. CLIVER.

Oscar E. Cliver, a farmer of about 70 years, whose home is four miles east of St. Louisville, died very suddenly Friday evening at 9 o'clock of heart disease, at the home of Wm. Lybarger, near Utica, in Burlington township. Mr. Cliver had been doing some carpenter work at Mr. Lybarger's home and after he had finished his work and had his supper, he was taken suddenly ill and soon expired.

Mr. Cliver is survived by a wife and eight children, Mrs. Della Wilkins of Eden township, Mrs. Lou Pound of Putney, Mrs. Verna Holter who lives nine miles north of Newark, Mrs. Jessie Huston of the home, Earl Cliver of Eden township, Joe Cliver of Cleveland, and Allie and Elsie Cliver of the home.

The funeral services will be held in the Valley church Monday at 11 a. m. Burial in the Barnes cemetery.

DEATH OF INFANT.

Elsie B. Judd, the infant daughter of Mr. Budd F. Judd, who recently came here from Virginia to work for the Holophone Company, died at the home of the parents on Maiden street Friday night, aged about six months.
